

Tradenname/Trademark Information

- Why register?
If your bank, your customers or suppliers require you to register your business name or logo, submitting the application would register the name and/or mark on the state level.
- Who does it help?
Registration of a Tradenname/Trademark makes it a public record and enables consumers to identify the owner of a business.
- Will I own the name and/or mark?
Registration of a Tradenname/Trademark in Wisconsin does not give ownership; it does make it a public record that the registration is being used.
- How do I own the name and/or mark?
Rights and ownership in Wisconsin of a Tradenname/Trademark are gained through usage, not through the registration.
- Am I required to register?
No. Wisconsin Statute 132.01 does not require the registration of Tradenames/Trademarks. Therefore, the Department of Financial Institutions (DFI) has only a partial listing of names/marks in use by businesses/individuals operating in Wisconsin.
- How do I know if someone else is using it?
Search the internet, DFI website at www.wdfi.org (Tradenname/trademark data base), telephone books, trade journals and other publications to be certain you are not infringing on another party's rights.
- Should I contact DFI if someone uses my name or logo?
No. The Department of Financial Institutions has no authority to determine who has rights to a name/mark. Any conflicts must be resolved by the parties involved, or by the courts.
- How do I get exclusive rights to a name?
To obtain an opinion regarding exclusive rights, please consult a private attorney.
